

Message from Mr Maltby

27th May 2022

Good afternoon,

As we approach the half-term holiday we are concluding the week by getting our Year 11 students to walk across hot coals!

Mr Newstead has organised a motivational event for our Year 11 students this evening which will include the challenge to do some fire-walking! Year 11 have demonstrated such incredible resilience and commitment in these past weeks and this event, in the midst of their GCSE exam period, is to inspire them to think of their future lives without limits. We will ensure you get to see some of the photos from tonight's event!

I also want to take this opportunity to thank so many of you for your response to my consultation on Parents' Evenings. Your responses were both important and varied and I am most grateful for all your feedback.

I will be using the half-term break to set the calendar for next academic year and will feedback to you the Academy's decision making over Parents' Evenings alongside other key events in the new format of my weekly bulletins. I also intend to extend my consultation with a parental survey which, again, I hope you will take the time to complete at the start of the new half-term

In the meantime, I do want to wish everyone a restful half term and to take this opportunity to convey my personal thanks to all at Holbrook Academy.
